Assembly Presentation by Grade V Topic: "Abilities and Achievements"

“Achievement does not require extraordinary ability. Achievement comes from ordinary abilities applied with extraordinary persistence.”

- By Ralph Marston

Morning assembly on the topic “Abilities and achievements” was conducted by students of Grade V from October 3rd to 9th. School assemblies have many benefits. Just like a balanced breakfast, they are an essential start to a young child's day and a significant influence in helping them grow into responsible adults with a well-developed sense of community.

We believe in the value and importance of acknowledging the good work and effort of our pupils, to show that everyone is capable of achieving and to help children understand every achievement is valued, however small. In the morning assembly, anchoring was done by Varnika, Vanya, Saanvi and, Pratyush. Pledge was administered by Tanmoy, Sai Kruthi and, Pratyush. Thought for the day was spoken by Rohitha, Pritam, Kathikeya and, Prithvi Raj based on the topic of ability and achievements. A new word was added to the dictionary by Aryaveer, Akshara, Harshith and, Dhruv. News was spoken by Sujan, Aarushi, Navaneeth and, Anutara.

The activities conducted by the students in the assembly reinforced the importance of building one's abilities in order to achieve personal and academic goals. To be an all-rounder the students need to develop both academic and non-academic skills. It is also well established that people with similar education may achieve differently based on their social and emotional skills and abilities. We strive to build students' non-academic abilities apart from imparting them theoretical knowledge. Students emphasized on building new abilities and improving existing abilities to achieve higher goals. By working together in conducting activities for the assembly students learn collaboration as a value and a skillset.

Young people need new skills for the current and future workplace that will make them ready to collaborate with others, not only in their own classroom or workplace but potentially with others across the planet. Encouraging students to work together on a creative challenge, and allowing them to reflect on the learnings they take from the exercise, will help them better understand what it means to be a part of an increasingly collaborative and connected world. Apart from the individual skills and abilities students are also being encouraged to go beyond the curriculum when conducting the activities in the assembly. These activities also provide new avenues to the students to show their non-academic abilities that will lead them towards achievement. Throughout the week, the assembly conducted was very informative and motivating. The students understood that importance of three Ps - Practice, Patience and Persistence which are the keys to success.

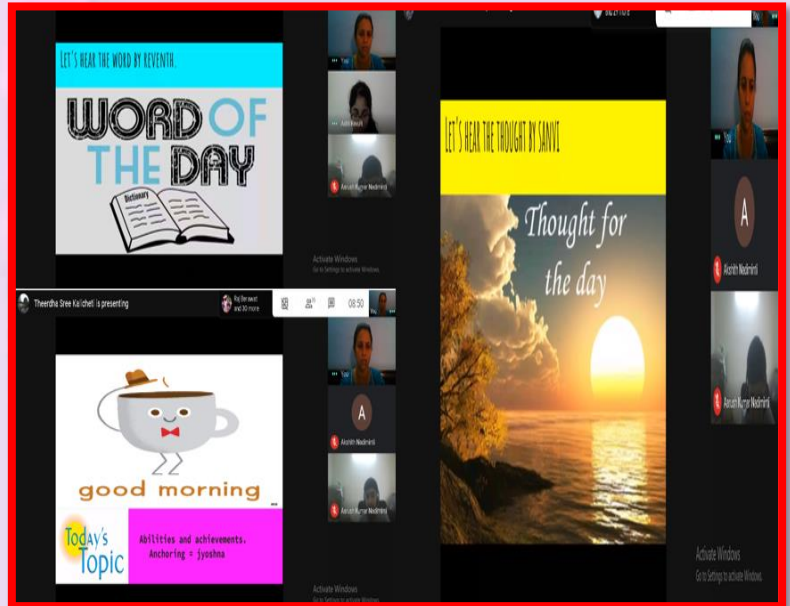

Assembly Presentation by Grade VII Topic: "Abilities and Achievements"

Fancy Dress Activity for Grade I and II

"To become a better you, remember to be grateful to people who have contributed to making you who you are today."

Scholastic and co-scholastic activities have equal importance in-school program for the all-round development of the child. Keeping this in view, we at Jain Heritage a Cambridge school conducted the Fancy Dress activity for the children of Grade I and II on October 1st, 2020. The purpose of conducting the co-curricular activity was not only to blend learning with fun but also to develop confidence in the students by allowing them to speak in front of everyone.

Students displayed their talents on the theme 'Community Helpers'. They dressed up as an Engineer, Captain, Policeman, Doctor, Teacher, Waiter, Maid, Lawyer, Farmer, Air Hostess, Painter, Plumber, etc. and emphasized upon their importance in making our lives easier. Children dressed up in their colorful costumes and spoke a few sentences about the character that they depicted. Some of the students recited the rhymes related to the character they were dressed as. They enacted their roles with realistic props along with appropriate words. The effort and hard work of children were highly commendable. This activity proved to be a great learning experience for the students and gave them a platform to explore their hidden talents. Through this activity, our students gained a greater understanding of what exactly the community helpers do to make our life better. The aim behind this competition was to bring out a sense of reverence towards the community helpers. Through this activity, they were able to recognize these helpers who are the backbones of society. The absence of any helper would hamper the smooth running of society. Hence, we must sensitize our kids at a young age, towards community workers. Thus, activity inculcated the feeling of gratitude towards our Community Helpers. The activity concluded with the encouraging words of the teachers who lauded the admirable performances of tiny tots for the success of the show.

Rangoli Drawing Activity for Grade III to V

Rangoli drawing activity was conducted for students of grade III, IV and V on 16th October 2020. Students participated in the activity with enthusiasm. Rangoli is an ancient and traditional Indian art form that embodies beauty and auspiciousness. Rangoli art consists of decoration and patterns made with chalk or rangoli coloured powder and can be embellished with sand, rice, candles or flower petals. Rangoli is a traditional form that brightens up an occasion and is believed to be harbinger of good luck.

Students from all the grades participated earnestly and with enthusiasm. Rangoli making is an integral part of Indian tradition and culture. Beautiful rangolis adorn the Indian houses specially during festivals. The participants created innovative designs of Rangoli from pastel colours, color pencils, sketch pens and crayons. Students drew beautiful and colorful rangolis on the drawing sheets. A few students made rangoli on the floor. Some rangoli designs made by the students were inspired by nature, some were abstract, and some were geometric while still others were festival based. A wide range of designs showed the diversity of rangoli patterns. Children also discussed about the importance of rangoli. Some cultures believe that drawing rangoli brings good luck and wards off evil spirits while some believe that this humble ritual helps to keep courtyards clean. This was also a great way to learn about different cultures. Such kind of activities enhance the concentration and perseverance in the students. Children can express their ideas and thoughts when allowed to create their own patterns. The colourful and vibrant rangolis presented a picture of festivity and gaiety. Each Rangoli was unique in its own way and the teachers were in a dilemma to choose the ones that were better than the best. The students put their best foot forward and took part in the competition with zest. "Grow, Nourish, Sustain Together. Our Actions are Our Future".

My School is Indeed Cool

School brings a smile to everyone's face! We spend almost all our childhood and teenage years in school. If you think about it, almost all our first experiences were in fact in school! From learning the ABCs to getting scratches on our knees, those long Physical Education periods, to the breeze from the trees, to not wanting to eat greens from our lunch boxes, to enjoying treats and feasts in-class parties! All of these are such sweet memories that will stay with us forever! Also, the grand annual day, sports day, and field trips! Singing songs on bus rides, wearing casual outfits on birthdays, and participating in school activities/competitions, it's all in the journey! Playing sports even though the sun is shining so bright, and forgetting to write notes and then completing it before our name is called out! My school life has been filled with all of these golden memories! All these mesmerizing memories will always be with me! We all agree that school is cool!!

GIRL

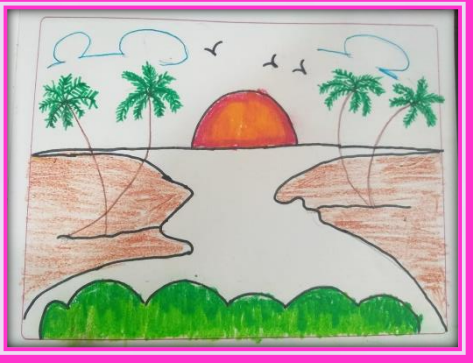

A girl is a bundle of joy, For both friends and family.
She is cute, sweet and smart,
Whether she is Anna or Emily.
When a baby girl is born, The house is filled with glee.
And for everything you do for her,
She will surely thank thee.
A girl will love to dance, Another will love wearing rings.
Whether she is Prithi Patel, Or Mia Singh.
A girl loves like a mother, Teases like a sister.
Scolds like a dad and, Irritates like a brother.
But is one of the most unique things,
Mankind has ever seen.
A girl's smile radiates delight,
She spreads happiness and love.
She is just like the symbol of peace,
A beautiful white dove.
